The Key Stone of the Arch of Godly Character is the Eternal Spirit of Love

Chas. Stafford

IT is futile to endeavor to obtain peace with God or to journey along the pathway that leads to heaven, if one does not implicitly put his trust in the reliability of the message of Salvation to wayfaring men — that is, the good news proclaimed in the Scriptures.

The writer recently has been im-of eternal life." Man is not saved by works. What he does for God is done because he has been saved. He is saved by believing; believing means trusting.

One does not realize his sinful state and his need of Salvation until the Holy Spirit operates upon his heart and conscience. The preparacialities, nor powers, nor things present, nor things to come, nor height, nor depth, nor any other creature, shall be able to separate us from the love of God, which is in Christ Jesus, our Lord."

Salvation enables one to lead a victorious life. "We have access by faith into the grace wherein we

Only By Grace Can The Sinner Be Saved and Kept Saved

pressed with the conviction that an increasing number of people are trying to lead Christian lives who, apparently, do not realize that this is impossible unless they "live by the faith of the Son of God." They seem to believe that Salvation can be obtained by ceasing the practice of some things and striving to accomplish other things: They have not been "justified by faith" and therefore have not "peace with God." They try and they fail, and then complain about the hard times they have in their attempts to lead Christian lives. They do not apprehend that one must become a Christian before he can lead a Christian's life, and that one can only become a Christian by being "born again."

Jesus says: "Come unto Me . . . and ye shall find rest unto your souls. For My yoke is easy and My burden is light."

There is nothing confusing in the directions given in the New Testament. They tell how sinful men and women can obtain forgiveness, become servants of God and "grow in grace and in the knowledge of our Lord and Saviour, Jesus Christ."

Individual, Yet Universal

God, the Holy Spirit, deals with each individual according to the individual's personality, but the message of Salvation is the same to all mankind. Jesus said: "In solemn truth I tell you that unless you turn and become as little children, you will in no case be admitted into the Kingdom of Heaven" (Weymouth's translation). Little children are teachable and trustful, but man's egotism and incredulity keep many from entering into God's Sheepfold through the Door—Jesus Himself—because one must obey Christ's injunction to deny himself and take up his cross and follow Him, if he would be His disciple.

Man's greatest enemy is himself. Even Satan, with all his power, cannot hinder one's enjoyment of the blessings of Salvation, if he will really deny himself to follow Jesus. Salvation is the gift of God, but many fail to obtain this most precious gift because, either from incorrect instruction concerning the plan of Salvation, or from a presumptuous desire to be on good terms with themselves, they endeavor to do something to merit the wonderful inheritance which is freely bestowed upon all who, through faith in the Son of God, become eligible for adoption into our Heavenly Father's family.

The Apostle Paul in his letter to Titus, declares: "Not by works of righteousness that we have done, but according to His mercy He has saved us, by the washing of regeneration, and renewing of the Holy Ghost; which He shed upon us abundantly through Jesus Christ our Saviour; according to the hope tion of the heart, and the bestowal of Salvation are entirely His work. Many quench the strivings of the Holy Spirit, but when one yields to Him, it is easy to believe. Man's part is repentance toward God and faith in the Lord Jesus Christ, and he is enabled to do his part by the power given him by the Holy Spirit, when he sincerely seeks Salvation.

Submitting to God's will, com-stand, and rejoice in the hope of the glory of God . . . and hope maketh not ashamed, because the love of God is shed abroad in our hearts by the Holy Ghost, Whom is given unto us." God has opened a sure way to heaven, by virtue of the shed blood of His Only begotten Son. A way that "a wayfaring man, though a fool, need not err therein."

"Without faith it is impossible to LIVE out Thy life in me,

Forgive, forget the past
With all its self obtruding;
Have Thou Thy way at last.

Live out Thy life in me, Lord,

Thy tender touch be felt, Lord,
Thy kindness be shown.

Such fellowship with Thee,
Lord,
I crave, whate'er the cost.

mitting to God's care — trusting God's precious promises—unites one with Christ and gives him the assurance which enabled Paul to say: "For I am persuaded that neither death, nor life, nor angels, nor prin-

GENUINE RELIGION

Appeals to the Man in the Street

THERE seems no more important message for the Church of God to-day, than the necessity of being genuine. There is much artificiality in evidence everywhere. There is so much that is synthetic. "The man in the street," who doesn't read his Bible but pays very close attention to the professor of religion, is looking for something worth while—something that will commend religion to him. He doesn't necessarily require the sacrifice of principles, or the lowering of standards, or something that is "modern." He wants something that will be intensely real and practical; that will meet his needs and answer life's questions for him.

Salvationists especially must interpret Christ to him. Education and culture are good; training is invaluable, but above all, genuine witnesses are the great need. May God help us to be just that! We need to pray; to be loyal; to be enthusiastic; to be channels of God's power.—W.T.

YOU MAY BE SAVED

If You Follow These Plain Instructions

YOU must recognize that you are a sinner in the sight of God, and that you are in danger of losing your soul. You must be willing to give up wrong-doing of every kind, and put right, as far as possible, any wrong you may have done. If you are willing in this fashion, you may safely rely upon God's willingness to hear your cry for pardon.

Call upon Him, then, to-day, for He says, "Whosoever cometh unto Me I will in no wise cast out." You can be pardoned, cleansed, and made anew by faith in Jesus Christ.

Remember the Devil will try to lead you into sin again, but God is ABLE TO KEEP you from falling, or to restore your soul if you should in an unguarded moment give way to the enemy.

A DIVINE OBJECT-LESSON

The Mediator Between God and Man

THE Tabernacle in the Old Testament was a symbol of God's presence with His people. It was erected by free-will offerings, indicating that every one has a place of service in the kingdom. There was but one gate to the court, one door to the Tabernacle, and one veil by which to enter the Holiest of all, typifying that Jesus is the one new and living way to God. The brazen altar indicates that an atoning sacrifice was necessary for sin; the laver shows that without purity and holiness none can see the Lord; the Tabernacle typifies the Saviour in whom God and man meet and are reconciled.

Within the Tabernacle was the altar of incense (prayer and praise); the table of shewbread (Christ the staff of life); the Golden Candlestick (Christ the light of life); the Ark of the Covenant (Christ our propitiation); the High Priest (Christ the true Priest and King); the Offerings (Christ the believer's all-sufficient substitute).

TRUST GOD NOW!

Not What You Can Do, But What Christ Has Done

IT has been well said that a lamb in Noah's Ark was just as safe as the ponderous elephant. It was not the elephant's size and strength that made him safe. It was the Ark that saved both elephant and lamb.

And so it is not your strength, knowledge, ability, or even good works, that will save you. Rich or poor, learned or unlearned, can be saved only by the Blood of Christ.

Entrance into the security of God's Kingdom does not depend on what you can do, but what Christ has done for you on Calvary's Cross. ASK AND TRUST HIM TO SAVE YOU NOW!

LENDING GOD A HAND

DAN CRAWFORD, the African missionary, states in his diary that the wild tribes among whom he labored are skilled in carving in red mahogany, and that before starting the day's work they offer this prayer: "O God, Thou hast made all things beautiful, but we must lend Thee a hand!"

I heard the Voice of Jesus say,
"Come unto Me and rest."
When one accepts the gracious invitation, he is exercising faith that is pleasing to God. How necessary it is that one should remember the admonition of our Lord and Saviour "Without Me ye can do nothing."

CORPS WHICH HAVE MADE ARMY HISTORY

THE MARCH of TIME at MONTREAL CITADEL

A Progressive Force for God and Righteousness in the Metropolis

Montreal Citadel Band is a well-known institution in the down-town section of the city spacious building now used as Men's Hostel, on St. Alexander Street. More recently the Corps occupied the present University Street premises, in the heart of the theatre and retail district.

Since the Great War startling changes have transformed the face of Montreal. Thousands of people have moved out to distant suburbs. To-day the Soldiers of Montreal Citadel who live within walking distance could be numbered on one's fingers — and it is not an uncommon thing for a family attending the Corps three times on Sunday, to travel thirty to forty miles in so doing! But this fact has not dampened enthusiasm. On Sunday nights particularly the building is normally full — the gallery having been opened as a regular necessity during the past two years.

The advent of fine new converts and Soldiers, together with the splendid group of young Salvationists ready to "carry on," augurs well for effective days ahead in the life of this old Corps that boasts such a magnificent background and faces an even greater future.

well-being of the people. Eloquent testimony to this fact is found in the personnel of the Advisory Board, headed by Sir Edward Beatty, President of the Canadian Pacific Railway Company.

THE Citadel Corps, whose first meetings, as already mentioned, were first held in Weber Hall soon transferred its activities to the BAND RESERVIST WM. GATEHOUSE is No. 1 on the Soldiers' Roll. He was converted on Monday, December 29th, 1884, in Weber Hall, exactly two weeks and one day after The Army "opened fire" in the Metropolis. He was a member of the original Citadel Band and recalls that it made its first public appearance on the streets, May 24th, 1887, after seven weeks' practice — in which time they had mastered seven tunes! He has been faithful to God and The Army during all the intervening years.

SERGEANT - MAJOR WM. B. COLLEY: Leaving his office one morning, under deep conviction, William Colley rushed to The Army Officers' Quarters in Quebec City, and sought Salvation. That was on January 24th, 1887, and ever since he has been one of The Army's strongest supporters in the Province of Quebec. The same year he came to Montreal, and has been a Local Officer for fifty-one years; he has held his present position for the past thirty-one years. A prominent business man in Montreal for years, he is known and beloved by a wide circle of friends and has ever kept high The Army's standards.

TREASURER ED. DOUGLAS: Fifty-one years ago, when The Army was experiencing turbulent opposition in Quebec City, this comrade was converted. Two years later he transferred to Montreal, and has

IN its long history, Montreal has been subject to war and rumors of war. But no martial declaration stirred more popular curiosity than that issued by a little group of Salvationists on Sunday morning, December 14th, 1884. This declaration was no mere "scrap of paper"; it was given immediate effect by tangible attack. Staff-Captain James Madden and four "Hallelujah Lassies"—Captain Eva Lewis, Lieutenant Low, Cadets Murray and Yerex—held a preparatory prayer meeting in Weber Hall, then sallied forth, a Salvation Army announced to besiege the devil and his cohorts. The war had begun.

Great crowds were gathered in the streets of the city. The dauntless little regiment in poke-bonnets beat its brave way through the hostile throngs to Victoria Square—then as now a busy downtown junction. Stones and curses greeted them on every hand. Occasionally a cry of encouragement could be heard above the tumult, but such heartening sounds were few and far between.

As they entered the square, the Salvationists struck up a song, and over the din their voices carried sweet and strong:

I heard the voice of Jesus say,

"Come unto Me and rest,

Lay down thou weary one, lay down

Thy head upon My breast."

Soon their progress was completely blocked by the mob that now hemmed them in on all sides. It was not long before a detachment of police, led by the chief himself, appeared on the scene to officially dislodge the invaders. The struggle was short and decidedly one-sided. Unceremoniously the Salvationists were bundled into waiting sleighs and taken off to the police station. To all appearances the war had petered out in dismal defeat.

The Irrepressible Salvationists

But even as they were being rushed to the police station the irrepressible Salvationists maintained a rapid fire of Salvation messages directed toward the crowds on the streets. Above the jingling of sleigh-bells their voices rang. And when they entered the police station a sight unprecedented in Montreal annals took place — the prisoners dropped to their knees on the floor and prayed aloud for police and persecutors!

Meanwhile, two of the original party that somehow or other escaped arrest, returned to Weber Hall, and commenced a meeting. Captain Lewis and Cadet Murray prayed and sang and preached, and God blessed them wonderfully. And while they prayed, friends of The Army descended upon the police station, raised the necessary bail (which was first refused by the Salvationists) and finally led the little band in freedom back to the meeting. There was great rejoicing at the reunion of forces, and throughout that hectic day meetings proceeded with fervor at Weber Hall.

Thousands crowded the streets; hundreds were turned away from the Hall. At night the meeting ended in paralysing confusion, the roughs becoming uncontrollable, smashing seats and breaking windows. The Salvationists were refused police protection and on their way home were brutally mobbed. The fact that they did not suffer serious injury was due the courage and strength of sympathizers who time and again fought back the howling crowds.

It was amid such scenes that The Army "opened fire" in Montreal fifty-four years ago.

MANY months of hard fighting followed the initial attack. Remarkable spiritual victories were won—some of the early-day trophies standing to this very day to witness to God's preserving power.

For years the authorities and general public misunderstood the real mission of The Army, and it was only through the dauntless perseverance and high religious faith of the pioneers, backed by the efforts of a small group of influential citizens, that the work was maintained. For instance, it was only through the intervention of several gentlemen that the first charge levelled against the invading force was lifted. Many of the privileges now enjoyed by Salvationists of the metropolis were not granted until years after the work began. Early-day Soldiers still recall the times when it was necessary for them to keep on the move in the open-air in order to circumvent a local by-law directed against Army out-door activity.

Happily such days are now a memory. Citizens and civic officials, together with religious, financial and industrial leaders of Canada's greatest city vie with one another in paying tribute to an organization that has won its way to the forefront of movements working for the

HAPPY MEMORIES

INDICATIVE of the blessing Army radio broadcasts are to those who live in isolated districts on the prairies, are the following extracts from a letter recently received by Major D. Rea, Regina Citadel:

"It was a Color-Sergeant boarding at our home in the Old Land, who first brought me into contact with The Army, and although my parents were strict church-goers, they did not hinder me from going to the meetings with the Salva-tionists.

"I remember how much I enjoyed the meetings, and was eventually led to give my heart to God.
The fellowship of The Army young people was very dear to me in those days.

"While still a child, my parents moved to a part of Canada, where it was not possible to attend The Army meetings. How lonely I was for the comradeship of the Salva-tionists, and how my heart hungered after the things of God. I believe it was this very hunger which prevented me from going into paths of sin which were opened up to me at that time.

"Many years have intervened since my first Army contact, until last Fall, and while listening to a service over the radio, I heard the voice of a Salvation Army Officer speaking, and once again my heart thrilled with the old joy of fellowship. I cannot tell you what that service meant to me. It opened up a flood of happy memories which left me throbbing with spiritual impulses.

ciation of a people whom I dearly
love and admire."—H.H.

Peterboro Temple, Ont. (Major and Mrs. C. Warrander). The annual Songster week-end meetings were led by Captain and Mrs. Ross. On Saturday night a bright meeting, with music by the Band and Songsters, was held. There were twelve volunteers at the Mercy-Seat in the hallowed Holiness meeting. In the afternoon the musical forces united to provide a varied program.

In the night meeting there were twelve seekers. One of these was a young woman, a minister's daughter, who started to attend Army meetings at the invitation of Company meeting members.

On Monday night the Songsters gave a musical program over which Mrs. Brigadier Smith, mother of Songster Leader B. Smith, presided.

SEVENTEEN SEEKERS

Portage La Prairie, Man. (Adju-

a two-week campaign. The Com-seventeen seekers were registered,

seven of these being young people.

"INASMUCH" SERVICE

Annual Meeting of Montreal League of Mercy Reveals Manifold Activities Among the Sick and Needy

THE annual gathering of the Montreal League of Mercy took place recently at the Citadel. The guest for the occasion was Lieut.- Colonel E. Sims, who is himself an active member of the Toronto branch.

During the evening, Mrs. Brigadier Forbes, League Sergeant-Major, gave expression to her deep appreciation for the hearty cooperation given by the members of the League especially during the Christmas season. She also told of many letters of appreciation which had been received from persons who brought to a profitable close. During the evening a message from Mrs. Brigadier Best, who was out of the city at the time, was read.

On a recent Monday night a program, arranged by Mrs. Major Barclay, was given by the members.
The Citadel Band, members of the Singing Company, assisted by other local talent, added to the variety and success of the program.

During the evening, Sister E.
Colley, League of Mercy Treasurer, read the yearly report which included a number of statistics. Some 11,396 persons were reached through sorrow.

Lieut.-Colonel Sims gave an insight into the work done by the Toronto Branch of the League of Mercy, and Lieut.-Colonel Geo.
Smith, of the Men's Social Department, also addressed the gathering.
A travelogue entitled "A trip around the world" was much enjoyed, and the gathering was meetings and visitation; 5,430 of these were prayed with; 16,174 War Crys and Young Soldiers were distributed; and 196 homes were visited apart from institutions.

The program was brought to a happy conclusion by the presentation of a pageant entitled, "Through the Portals of the Past," which portrayed women's service through the years.

KNELT IN THE BOILER ROOM

Backslider Restored Through a "Word in Season"

IN his capacity of Trustee on the Toronto Board of Education, to which position he was recently elected, Sergeant-Major Leslie Saunders, of Danforth Citadel, was requested to investigate a complaint filed by one of the engineers at a city school regarding the kind of coal being used.

The Sergeant-Major found that the man was a former Salvationist, and a backslider for many years. He talked to him not only about the coal he was using and his work, but also about spiritual matters; and prayed with him in the bargain!

The outcome of the visit was that the man began to consider the state of his soul, and kneeling in the boiler-room asked God to come into his heart again. The following Sunday he came to Danforth Citadel and gave his testimony.

Another story of the Sergeant-Major, who is always about his Master's business, concerns the Salvation meeting on a recent Home League Sunday night conducted by Mrs. Commissioner Carpenter. The Sergeant-Major went to his young daughter and asked her to speak to a young girl, suggesting she might win her first soul for Christ.

Instead, his daughter rushed to the Penitent-Form herself; and ended a struggle which had been going on in her heart for some time past about wearing the uniform. She is getting into full uniform for the forthcoming Toronto East Young People's Councils.

Home League Events

FLOWERS FOR SHUT-INS

DURING the monthly Home League spiritual meeting at East Toronto rich blessing was received from the inspirational address given by Mrs. Colonel Peacock.
The League is making progress under the leadership of Mrs. Major Snowden, and a number of members have been added to the Roll. The Flower Club which distributes flowers to shut-ins is a means of blessing. The advantages of an enthusiastic Thrift and Picnic Club are appreciated by the Leaguers.

Home League Week at Hamilton III, Ont. (Major and Mrs. Kirby-on), was enthusiastically observed.
On Saturday night Home League members presented a pleasing program, over which Major A. Uden presided.

On Sunday Major A. Uden was in charge of the meetings, assisted by Home League Local Officers and members. The newly-formed Home League vocal party sang during the day. During the week a shut-in member was visited and a service conducted in her home. The Home League supper was well-attended.

New members have been secured, and as a result new children are attending the Company meetings.

Fairbank, Ont. (Major and Mrs.
Crowe). The annual Home League and Band Supper was recently held, Brigadier and Mrs. Dalziel, Major and Mrs. Green being the guests.
An interesting program was afterwards presented by the Band and comrades, over which Mrs. Brigadier Dalziel presided.

The Home League is under the leadership of Secretary Mrs. Major Crowe, and Treasurer Mrs. Whalen.

FRUITFUL CAMPAIGN

Welland, Ont. (Captain and Mrs.
Crozier). The ten-day campaign conducted by Major W. Parsons was a time of blessing and inspiration.
There were many seekers. A sister rededicated her life to the Saviour and three persons sought Salvation.
A new convert when asked how he felt replied, "As if I'd just been released from a life sentence in prison!"

A number of young people also gave their hearts to Jesus, and three Junior Soldiers were enrolled. During his stay Major Parsons visited and prayed in a number of homes.
His lecture, "Salvaging Humanity," was greatly enjoyed.

Corps Cadet Rally at Hamilton

A FOURTH Corps Cadet Rally was held recently in Argyle Citadel, Hamilton, Ont. A fine number were present. Mrs. Brigadier Ritchie opened the Rally, and Corps Cadet Guardian Blair and Corps Cadet Stanley Kirbyson, of Hamilton III, and Corps Cadet Harris, of Hamilton I, also took part in the opening exercises. A period of prayer and testimonies followed, in which a number of Corps Cadets participated.

The Sword and Shield Brigade was explained and introduced by Major Bracey, the Divisional Young People's Secretary, after which Adjutant Calvert, of Hamilton I, spoke on private Bible reading and study. Brigadier Ritchie closed the devotional part of the evening with prayer. Later the company adjourned to the lower Hall, and Bible contests were engaged in by two Corps Cadet Brigades.

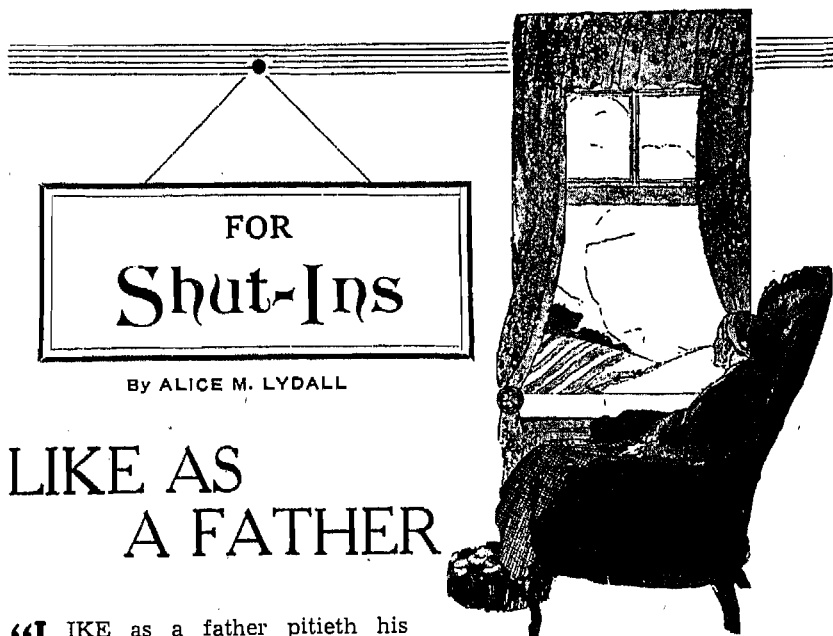

HOME LEAGUE ACTIVITIES

Belleville, Ont. (Major and Mrs. Alderman). On Home League Sunday Home League Secretary Sister Mrs. Brown, assisted by members of the League, was in charge. The speaker was Captain Jean Bridle, of Gananoque. In the Holiness meeting Major Alderman dedicated the infant daughter of Corps Secretary and Mrs. Stanley Lessels, the mother and both grandmothers being active members of the League.

At night testimonies were given by Sisters Mrs. Ayling and Mrs. Fred Wardle, the last-named giving an account of Home League activities in England during a time of distress. Captain Bridle spoke and Major Alderman led the prayer meeting.

On Monday evening Rev. and Mrs. Bunting, of the China Inland Mission, spoke of spiritual victories being won in that country.

The annual Home League supper was a successful event. On Thursday evening the meeting was conducted by Mrs. Major Alderman, assisted by members of the League and the Young People's Band.

By ALICE M. LYDALL

LIKE AS A FATHER

"LIKE as a father pitieth his children, so the Lord pitieth them that fear Him. For he knoweth our frame; He remembereth that we are dust." So wrote the Psalmist.

Like as a Father! Does the Lord really care for us in that intimate fashion? It brings to mind a crisis in my own life when just a girl of seventeen years. I had definitely found God, and had enjoyed some ecstatic experiences. Then, one day all the old doubts came flooding back. I wasn't wise enough to know that thoughts and suggestions can come into the heart from without; that there is no guilt or significance in such, however disloyal or evil, if they are hated and rejected at once by the soul. I mistakenly thought they were part of myself, and was sadly perplexed and tormented because these doubts had returned.

I began to fear that either I had not entered into possession of God's Salvation or that I had somehow lost it. Going home that night, the opening words of the Lord's Prayer came into my mind. "Our Father." "Oh!" I thought, "If my own father was God, I should never be afraid of falling; I know he would keep me safe, and is not God's love greater than that of my earthly father, how very foolish I am to doubt."

Long years have passed since that night but I still remember the joy that flooded my being.

God wants us to trust Him as we, when children, trusted the earthly parents He has given us.

We can bury our doubts and fears in that great love of His and sweetly rest in His everlasting arms. Fay Inchfawn writes:

"LIKE AS A FATHER"

If He's like that, why, then I understand

But, David, answer me;
Are you quite sure that such a thing could be?

God is a creditor, whose just demand

My soul must meet; a judge, a caterer

For all mankind. A wise physician, too.

All this I can believe, or think I do.

But this!

My soul, this is too great a thing to miss!

Like as a father pitieth

God pities me . . . So David saith.

NEWS FROM NEWFOUNDLAND

God is blessing our efforts at Grand Bank (reports Major Rideout). On a recent Sunday night there were twenty-three souls at the Cross. Two Soldiers were also enrolled.

Nine seekers at the Mercy-Seat marked the beginning of a revival campaign at Grand Falls. A number of programs given by Home League members have been well enjoyed.

A number of seekers have recently claimed victory at Paradise Sound. In a recent Soldiers' meeting nineteen comrades reconsecrated themselves for service. The comrades have repaired the exterior and interior of the Citadel and Officers' Quarters.

The "Spirit of Love" Campaign is going well at Lushes Bight. For two Sundays in succession the comrades had the joy of seeing five seekers claiming forgiveness. Some of these had been backsliders for several years. Nine souls resulted from a recent cottage meeting.

Major Rideout, of Grand Bank, with the co-operation of his comrades is pushing the completion of the Young People's section of the new Citadel. The opening will take place in the near future.

Elliston (Cadet E. J. Necho). A Young People's Demonstration recently held in the L.O.A. Hall was a success. Mr. Garland Porter acted as chairman, and the program was enjoyed by all. On a recent Sunday Major Porter, the District Officer from Bonavista, conducted the afternoon and night meetings.

Bonavista (Major and Mrs. Porter). Bandmaster Alec Durdle was recently presented with a certificate for the Bandmaster's Course. The Bandsmen, during recent weeks, have brought much blessing to many homes.

The day-school, under Cadet Winnie White, is making good progress, and a second room has recently been opened to accommodate the children. Cadet Rowie Winsor has been appointed teacher.

At Botwood (Major and Mrs. Robins), on Sunday last, nine souls sought and found Christ.

During recent weeks the comrades and friends at Summerford (Lieutenant R. Howell) have been hard at work enlarging the Hall which was far too small to accommodate the people. Ten feet has been added to the length of the building. Both logs and lumber were sawn free, and free labor was given for the extension. Eight seekers have found Salvation of late.

At Catalina (Lieutenant S. Hudson) two new Soldiers have been added to the roll, the Home League has been re-organized, and a Troop of Life-Saving Guards has been organized. Special attention has been given to the Young People's Work, with very gratifying results.

WHAT WE BELIEVE

Informative excerpts from The Army's Handbook of Doctrine

DEVELOPMENT OF THE SPIRITUAL LIFE

SAVED people are kept by God just as truly as they were saved by Him. The Bible declares that He is both able and willing to keep them faithful to the end, no matter how great their difficulties or temptations. "The Lord is faithful, who shall establish you, and keep you from evil" (2 Thess. 3:3); "Now unto Him that is able to keep you from falling and to present you faultless before the presence of His glory with exceeding joy" (Jude 24).

God keeps his people conditionally; that is, they must do their part if He is to do His. The conditions of continuing in the favor of God are obedience and faith. In repentance a man determines to obey God; in obedience he carried out that determination. The Bible makes it clear that obedience is a condition of enjoying God's favor. "Ye are My friends, if ye do whatsoever I command you" (John 15:14); "The Holy Ghost, whom God hath given to them that obey Him" (Acts 5:32).

Conversion brings both desire and power to obey God. Pleasing God is the ruling purpose of the converted soul; love to God makes him want to obey God's commands, and the Holy Spirit empowers him to do what before would have been impossible. Obedience becomes to him a joy, not a hard, impossible duty, and like the Psalmist he says: "I delight to do Thy will, O my God" (Psalm 11:8).

Obedying God means keeping God's laws; that is, God's will as made known to us. God's law includes, of course, the "Ten Commandments" as well as other commands given in the Bible. Christ summed up the whole into two great love-commands, namely: (1) To love God supremely, (2) To love one's neighbor as oneself (Matt. 22: 35-39). The Bible shows that one of the purposes of Christ's death was to enable men to keep God's law. "God sending His own Son in the likeness of sinful flesh, and for sin, condemned sin in the flesh; that the righteousness of the law might be fulfilled in us, who walk not after the flesh, but after the Spirit" (Romans 8:3, 4).

Yes, pities me, remembers I'm but dust,
If this be true, then worship Him, I must.

For, mark you, there was not a day, an hour,
But that my father pitied me.

No flower
Rain-buffed and sad
Knows half the care I had.
No lamb within the fold
So cosseted and cared for, kept from cold,

No bleak wind ever blew,
But that my father knew,
No burden came my way,
But he was sure to shoulder it, and say:

"This is my part."
So, David answer me:
Did you mean this? Did you speak hastily?
I'm groping at it—grasping at it, rather.

Because, you see,
God's so—so loving, if He's like my father.

I think sometimes we are baffled by the simplicity, forgetting that God's truths are so sublimely simple that a little child can grasp them; nay, grasp them quicker than we can.

We must come to Him always with the simplicity of childhood, just take what He says for granted, then all the intimate joy of the relationship of child to parent shall be in our relation to our Father God.

"If any man lack wisdom . . ." (James 1:5).

FOR THOSE WHO ARE DISCOURAGED

Some Thoughts on Giving and Getting

By THE LATE COMMISSIONER MILDRED DUFF

WE all know what it means to "lack" or run short of what we need. We have, some of us, had to do it many times these last years, and in lands less favored than our own people have had to lack what is absolutely necessary to health, and even to life itself. Earthly stores and replenishments have failed.

But when it is a question of those qualities which make, not the life of the body, but the real inner life, of mind and heart, and spirit—which is, after all, ourselves—the storehouse is inexhaustible. Whatever we lack of wisdom, or patience, or love, or faith, or courage, or mercy, may be had, we read, for the asking.

You know that the writer of this epistle was the Saviour's half-brother, and we may say reverently that there is a great likeness between them in their style of teaching. Both used so many parables, or pictures, and when James tells us, "If any man lack wisdom, let him ask," he is only giving over again, in different words, the Saviour's command, "Ask, and ye shall receive; seek, and ye shall find."

Be very frank with yourself. Have you ever knelt down somewhere, closed your eyes and asked out loud for those gifts which you lack, telling the Lord that you really need and must have them?

"No, I cannot say that I have," you reply, perhaps. Then you have not taken the first step toward getting your wants supplied, and God has so ordered things that the first step must come from you; before He can give, you must ask. If, therefore you have never started to do this, start just now while you read these words, and ask God to give you that gift which you most lack, and which seems the most beyond your reach.

James tells us further that "God giveth to all liberally, and upbraideth not." This has often been such a comfort to me! Sometimes when we go to earthly givers—as Salvationists do during the Self-Denial effort—they grant what we ask but they do it with a sting. "I believe you wasted what I gave you before," or "You ought not to need any more yet," or "I hope you won't come too often."

God is a Giver Who never wearies of giving, and instead of upbraiding, forgives.

But—and here is a great big "but"—"let him ask in faith, nothing wavering." That is the difficulty! "I have no faith," you say. "I ask and ask, but I never get, and instead of growing, my faith seems to get smaller all the time."

Yet you, in common with everyone else on the earth, have some faith, for, remember, "Faith is not of nature, it is the Lord's free gift to man."

The other day a woman—quite a stranger to me—came to ask for advice. We had finished our talk, and she was going away to do what I suggested when I said, "Let us pray." And we rose from our knees I added, "I believe for you!"

"It is good that someone believes," she said rather bitterly, "for I have no faith in God, and no faith in man, and no faith in myself."

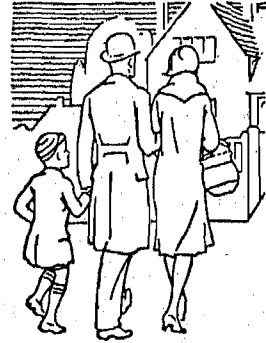

Now, she had really persuaded herself that this was the case, and I fancy that she had often said it before. But I answered, "Never say that again, for it is not true. You have faith in God, or you would not have knelt down and joined me in my prayer. And you have faith in man, or you would not have come to seek The Salvation Army's advice and help when you did not know us personally. And you have faith in yourself, or you would not be going away to carry out my advice. Now then, what have you to say?"

She laughed. "Well," she said, "if you put it like that, I suppose—"

Apply this to yourself. You have allowed yourself to think you have so little faith that it is of no use asking God to work miracles in your heart. Now look round, and you will find plenty of evidence that you have some faith, and that it only needs nursing and feeding, as you nurse and feed a smouldering ember in the grate to spread and kindle till your faith warms other hearts and hands as well as your own!

Do not judge the Saviour by yourself. You might quickly tire of helping people and picking them up and encouraging them to start afresh. But God is a God of patience. While anyone is willing to try, God is willing to help them and to surround them if necessary with all the resources of Heaven. So obey the will of God as He has made it plain to you, then joy and peace will replace impatience and discouragement.—From The Deliverer.

why you feel so keenly about it."

"Well, you see, Frank and I just naturally expected our child would be musical. Both of our families have more than average talent. You know yourself Frank plays and sings beautifully and—"

"You're a delightful organist, violinist and singer—I'll save your modesty," Sylvia interrupted laughingly. "And you dreamed of Donald's carrying on the tradition, didn't you?"

"Yes." The word spoke frustrated hopes.

"Now listen to my story," Sylvia continued. "Do you suppose we expected our Marianne to be musical? No. Vick and I do well to carry a tune. But, we thought Marianne would be a shining intellectual light, perhaps a linguist or historian or scientist. Look at Vick's family of teachers and literary people. And if I do say so, my lawyer husband is pretty smart—Phi Beta and all that. And I, well, at least my school work was a joy, and I was always disappointed if I was not at the head of my class."

"Much to our surprise and disappointment, however, from the time she was a baby Marianne showed

CLEANING SILVER.—If you ever find your silver polish bottle empty and you are in a hurry, ordinary tooth paste will clean silver beautifully in the emergency!

TARNISHED SILVER.—May be cleaned by using a piece of raw potato dipped in baking soda.

SCRATCHED SILVER.—Buy a small quantity of putty powder from the druggist and put into a saucer with enough oil to make a paste. Rub this paste onto the silver with a soft rag, then polish it with cham- mois leather. The scratches will no longer be seen.

SALT CELLARS.—Try placing a tumbler over the salt shaker when not in use. This will keep the salt from getting damp.

WASHING SERGE.—Put ammonia in lukewarm water and let the article soak well, then rub, and rinse in water of the same temperature. The ammonia powder is better and easier than using soap.

USE OF BRUSH.—In washing the feet of silk hose or the cuffs and collars of men's work shirts, aprons, corselettes, etc., how many have tried placing articles against a scrub board and rubbing with an ordinary hand-brush or nail-brush and a good soapy lather? It works.

TO MAKE A CHILD'S BLACK-BOARD.—Paint the board with ordinary black paint which dries with a gloss, then apply a coat of black paint mixed with turpentine instead of oil; this will dry a dead black.

an entirely different type of mind from ours — no logic, no reflection, no ingenuity. Hoping to bring out what we could not find, we sent her to kindergarten. Miss Meloy, the teacher, studied every child carefully, and I marvel yet at her insight.

"One day after several months of school she was having conferences with parents. 'Mrs. Thomson,' she said to me, 'you and Marianne's father are trying to mould her instead of letting her develop in her own way. You want her to be a deeply intellectual person, Marianne has not that turn of mind. I doubt if she was born to be a great thinker. But for a child of her age she has a talent for music and an appreciation of rhythm and beauty that are remarkable. Develop them.'"

"That young kindergarten teacher opened our eyes, but we're trying to follow her advice. Now about your Donald. I think he has one of the best minds of all the children I know. The way he sizes up a situation and goes logically to a solution is wonderful. At play, he is the one who devises games and leads. Don't you see? Forget his lack of musical genius and help him develop his own particular gifts. Why the scholarly Thomsons should have a musical daughter and the musical Kents a scholarly son is just one of the queer tricks heredity plays!"

Martha Kent was thoughtful. "To think I've never looked at it that way! I wish you'd spoken to me sooner. But we aren't the only ones who've erred, are we? I know a lot of parents who expect their children to be like them. I suppose it's our egotism."

PRISON SUNDAY

MARCH 5th

IN the next issue of The War Cry prominence will be given to that deservedly - meritorious phase of Army activity, the Prison and Police Court Work, which has received the commendation of magistrates and prison officials alike throughout the Territory.

It is a work that receives the benediction of One who said, "I was in prison and ye came unto Me," and Who also said to the dying thief, "To-day shalt thou be with Me in paradise." Year in and out experienced and faithful workers unostentatiously labor among those who find themselves behind steel bars and many of the most embittered foes of society become amenable to the methods used, and some remarkable conversions take place from time to time. Well-meaning society aims to reform the prisoner's lot, and this is necessary; but The Army aims at the most-needed of reforms—the reform of the heart.

On Prison Sunday, March 5th, special attention will be drawn to The Army's activities among prisoners and services will be conducted by Army Officers and workers in penal institutions throughout the land. Readers will pray that the efforts put forth will bear much fruit, and that the blessing of God will rest upon the laborers in this section of The Army's battlefield.

INVIGORATING COUNCILS LED BY COMMISSIONER AND MRS. CARPENTER

SPONTANEOUS joy and freedom, earnest intelligent attention and reverent wholehearted seeking after God, marked the successful series of Young People's Councils conducted by Commissioner and Mrs. Carpenter at Ottawa.

Representing every Corps in this part of the Division, delegations of young people with their Officers gathered from surrounding towns, and were among the most eager of the participants. Welcomed also were the Officers accompanying the Territorial Leaders, the Territorial Young People's Secretary, Brigadier Spooner, the Training Principal, Brigadier Dalziel, as well as the Divisional Commander and Mrs. Brigadier Best, and Major Schwarz, Divisional Young People's Secretary.

The week-end meetings opened with a Young People's Demonstration in the Citadel on Saturday evening, at which the Commissioner presided. All phases of youthful activities were represented on the program — the Primary children making their never-failing appeal in their frolics and songs; Guards and Brownies, demonstrating the great character building value of the Life-Saving movement; young musicians in their bands and quartets, as well as songs by Ottawa II Singing Company and the Vocal Party of the Citadel Youth Group.

The Cross is the Attraction

Pembroke's contingent travelled one hundred miles to the Councils and delighted everyone with their sweet singing. One of the most colorful items was a Japanese Lantern Drill by the Ottawa III comrades. A pageant, entitled "The Spirit of Love," presented by Ottawa II Corps, concluded the program. This item represented the Cross as the symbol of the Spirit of Love, and showed how the Cross has the same attraction and drawing power to youth to-day as in Bible times.

Sunday morning found a splendid company of young people gathered in the auditorium of the Masonic Temple for the first session of the day. The brisk, frosty air of a typical Ottawa winter morning seemed to have made everyone keen and alert, the evidence of which was shown right through the day.

SOUND THE BATTLE-CRY!

A RECENT enquirer asks if the name of The Army's Official Organ is not too warlike in these days of wars and rumors of war, and suggests that it be changed (which would involve changing the name of The War Cry published in scores of countries around the globe!) to "The Peace Messenger," or some similar title.

A correspondent in a recent issue of the Toronto Daily Star, however, enters the lists on behalf of The War Cry, and vigorously commenting on the dropping of the name of an influential Canadian religious journal says:

"Before choosing the new name the committee should have sung 'Onward, Christian Soldiers,' or the old hymn which goes:

*'Sound the battle-cry!
 See the foe is nigh;
 Raise the standard high for the Lord;
 Gird your armor on;
 Stand firm every one;
 Rest your cause upon His holy word.'*

"Battle-Cry would make a right good name! Our Salvation Army friends knew what they were doing when they called their paper The War Cry."

The Divisional Commander warmly greeted the Toronto visitors, as well as the delegates from outside Corps. The responsive Scripture reading was led by the Training Principal, and right early in the meeting the Commissioner was on his feet focussing the thoughts of his hearers upon the importance of such a day and the great influence of the revelation and vision that would come to them.

During his address the Commissioner presented a theme of great practical interest and dealt in a most intimate way with the daily problems of the youth of to-day. The audience listened with rapt attention and the first gathering was brought to a profitable conclusion.

In contrast to the quiet earnestness of the earlier session, the afternoon meeting opened on a note of happy freedom as the delegates settled down to the spice of many things. Full-hearted singing of songs and choruses preceded the introduction by Brigadier Spooner of the Sword and Shield Brigade course of Bible Reading. There was a ready response to an appeal for members to join the Brigade on the spot.

Three papers, exceptionally good in their matter and presentation, were read: "Prayer as a necessity in the cultivation of spiritual life" by Bandsman Jack Fry; "The opportunities of young people in the 'Spirit of Love' Campaign" by Higher Grade Corps Cadet Gwen Tame, and "Am I my brother's keeper" by Candidate Willard Day.

The Vocal Party from Ottawa II contributed a happy song before Brigadier Dalziel called upon young witnesses in all parts of the Hall to give a word of testimony. In a very helpful manner, Captain R. Best related how God revealed Himself to her and called her to His service. Then in answer to the earnest and stirring appeal of Brigadier Spooner quite a number of thoughtful young Salvationists dedicated themselves for Officership, and Mrs. Commissioner Carpenter presented them to the Lord in prayer.

A Life of Victory

All the uplifting influences of the day found their focus in the evening session. The attendance had increased until the auditorium was crowded. The eagerness and attention of the young people was such that the Commissioner commended them on their deportment and thanked them for their close attention. Then turning again to his subject of the morning, he developed it further and pointed out clearly the steps to a life of victory.

Mrs. Commissioner Carpenter had not been heard earlier in the day and was very warmly received as she began the final message. She spoke of the great questions with which youth is confronted and showed how Christ had answered them. With the insight of experience she revealed the hidden dangers, and with tender solicitude urged the way of full surrender.

The Great Surrender

As Brigadier Dalziel took up the leadership of the prayer meeting, the spirit of a reverent consideration of Christ's appeal was manifest. Soon the seekers were at the Mercy-Seat; then others came, some after a long struggle, until finally, more than thirty had made the great surrender. Even as The Army Doxology was being sung, the last seeker made his way to the Cross.

The meeting closed with much joy and thanksgiving. Brigadier Best expressing the thanks of all to the Council Leaders. Appreciation was also expressed to Deputy-Bandsmaster John Nixon and the group of young Bandsmen who provided accompaniment for the singing, and to Sister Mrs. Cornick for her excellent service at the piano. The many arrangements in connection with the week-end were the responsibility of Major O. Schwarz.

On Monday afternoon, the Commissioner met the Officers in council. The privilege of attending this "close-up" gathering was greatly appreciated by every Officer. The Commissioner dealt with the spiritual equipment required in the "Spirit of Love" Campaign, and helpful papers were read by Major A. W. Martin and Captain W. Isherwood.

The Monday evening public Rally combined all the elements of a Hallelujah wind-up to such a profitable week-end. Praise and testimony, music and song, and a happy Salvation fellowship filled the meeting.

The Commissioner took the opportunity of reviewing the blessings of the week-end, and then told of the advances of the Flag not only in Canada but in many other parts of the world.

The Bands and Songsters of the three city Corps each contributed individual items during the evening. Brigadier Dalziel gave a happy and vigorous message, and the final Scripture message and appeal was given by Brigadier Spooner.

BOND of FELLOWSHIP and SERVICE

Mrs. Commissioner Carpenter Leads Inspiring Meeting at Toronto Study Centre

WIVES of Headquarters Officers met Mrs. Commissioner Carpenter for a season of inspiration and fellowship on Tuesday, February 14th, at the Study Centre, Dundas Street, Toronto.

Mrs. Colonel Levi Taylor opened the meeting and presented Mrs. Commissioner Carpenter, who expressed her appreciation of the service performed by the women Officers present. "Everyone a worker," she exclaimed, as she looked over the gathering before her.

Referring to the farewell of Mrs. Colonel Webb, who had creditably fulfilled the duties of secretary to the League, Mrs. Carpenter introduced Mrs. Major E. Green as the new secretary, and called upon her to read the minutes of the last meeting.

A Scripture message from the story of Christ and the Syrophenician woman was given by Mrs. Colonel G. Attwell, who also added words of personal testimony.

"The Greatest Test of My Life—and How I Met It" was the subject under discussion, and many remarkable stories were told dealing with the faithfulness of God to undertake for His children under well-nigh impossible circumstances.

With a note of gratitude to God for His unchanging love, the meeting was brought to a close by prayer offered by Mrs. Brigadier A. Smith.

Mrs. Commissioner Carpenter recently addressed the Ladies' Auxiliary of Grace Hospital, Toronto. These women are engaged throughout the year in various activities on behalf of the Hospital. Mrs. Carpenter's address was on the beginnings of The Salvation Army Women's Social Work in London, England, and gave sidelights on the gracious ministry performed in various kinds of Social Institutions throughout Canada.

CHILD CULTURE CLASSES

Final Lecture in Lippincott Citadel

THE last in a series of twelve lectures on "Child Culture," by Miss Alice Thomson, of the Public Health Department at the City Hall, Toronto, will be given in the Lippincott Hall on Monday evening, February 20th. Mrs. Commissioner Carpenter will preside.

These lectures have been of distinct value to the Home League members of the city, and later, notes covering the lectures will be prepared and distributed to Home Leagues throughout the Territory.

IN THE NORTHLAND

Week-end Visit of the Chief Secretary to Sudbury, Ont.

THE week-end visit of the Chief Secretary and Mrs. Colonel Peacock to Sudbury, Ont., one of Northern Ontario's most progressive centres, was for them a return to former battlegrounds and a time of happy recollections.

The City of Sudbury is one of thriving industrialism. Here a large percentage of the world's nickel is mined and refined for shipment to many parts of the earth. Throughout the week-end citizens and civic personalities of this virile centre united to make the special series of meetings arranged by Major C. Chapman, the Corps Officer, wholly successful and abundantly inspiring.

A meeting of greeting on Saturday evening attracted a notable crowd. Major Chapman, on behalf of the Soldiers, warmly welcomed Colonel and Mrs. Peacock, with whom was Brigadier L. Ursaki, the Divisional Commander. Representing the Ministerial Association, Rev. Roy Stewart greeted the visitors and stressed the need for co-operation among the churches.

Colonel Peacock, who was a Divisional Secretary for the Sudbury district many years ago, introduced Mrs. Peacock, who was enthusiastically received. As a young Officer, Mrs. Peacock was stationed at Sudbury, and she recalled for her hearers some of the stirring episodes that marked the youthful days of The Army in those parts.

A forceful address, shot with inspiration, and buttressed with telling illustrations, was given by the Colonel.

With spiritual experiences as crisp as the weather, Salvationists gathered on Sunday morning for what proved to be a hallowed Holiness meeting. This was preceded by an outdoor service conducted by Brigadier Ursaki. Both Colonel and Mrs. Peacock spoke of the sanctified life in terms that were direct and effective. The Band, under the leadership of Bandmaster S. Wooley, played appropriate music.

PRACTICAL AID FOR UNEMPLOYED MEN

Musical Program at Toronto Temple Raises a "Mountain" of Useful Garments

COMMISSIONER G. L. CARPENTER PRESIDES

A LARGE pile of almost one thousand pairs of socks, handkerchiefs, collars, ties, shirts, trousers, overcoats, and sweaters in varying numbers, and a lone scarf, was the aggregate admission to the excellent Festival of Good Will held in Toronto Temple on Friday evening, February 10th.

The hearts of the most cynical would have been warmed had they watched the stream of compassionate-hearted Salvationists and friends thronging into the Temple, and depositing in the vestibule of the building their gifts for distribution among the single unemployed men being cared for by The Army in the Coliseum, in the west end of the city.

For many of the givers it was a personal sacrifice, but spurred by love for the "Inasmuch" Saviour, they were determined that those unfortunate wards of The Army should not be less well or warmly clothed than themselves. Generous contributors to the scheme were Bandsmen and Songsters of city Corps who donated several dozen pairs of heavy-wearing socks.

The festival, without question, was one of abundant inspiration; for was not its very conception inspired? It all began in the mind of Mrs. Commissioner Carpenter who wanted in some way to extend a gesture of practical sympathy to the men at the Coliseum. The co-operation of League of Mercy workers, the Training College Principal, Brigadier Dalziel, and a good deal of hard work which of necessity had to be hurried, resulted in the pleasant two-hour festival for which admission was by some article of clothing, preferably socks, with the tremendously successful totals already stated.

Commissioner Carpenter presided, and declared that the work at the Coliseum was being carried on from a genuine desire to enrich the inner life as well as to minister to the temporal well-being of the men. With the Commissioner was Mrs. Carpenter who later in the evening spoke words of appreciation for the gifts received,

A GESTURE OF GOOD WILL

Before this pile of more than a thousand socks, handkerchiefs and other garments could be distributed among the hundreds of unemployed single men in The Army's care at the Coliseum, Toronto, the camera-man hastened to get a permanent record—with the above novel result. Not so ornamental, perhaps, but decidedly useful!

and told how typists at Territorial Headquarters had prepared enough copies of Scriptural texts so that one might accompany each gift when distributed. Territorial and Divisional Headquarters Officers supported the Territorial leaders.

Providing the first-class program was the North Toronto Band (Adjutant R. Watt), the Lisgar Street Songster Brigade (Leader Frank Dean), the Lisgar Street Male Quartet, and Cadets from the Training College, who contributed varied and pleasing items. A stirring pageant "The Glory of the Flag"—the same Flag under which the compassionate idea behind the evening's program had been conceived and carried out—brought the Good Will Festival to a colorful close.

The Field Secretary, Brigadier F. Ham, opened the meeting with fervent prayer, and Brigadier Dalziel presented the Commissioner to the congregation.

sion of a drunkard. There was also one person forward for reconsecration. Mrs. Peacock reminded her hearers of the limitless love of God, and Colonel Peacock gave a pointed Bible address, urging the immediate acceptance of God's priceless gift of eternal Salvation. Sister Mrs. H. Jones sang, and the Band played a selection.

Colonel and Mrs. Peacock, on Saturday morning, paid a visit to the International Nickel Company's plant at Copper Cliff, where they were warmly welcomed by Mr. Ralph Parker, General Superintendent, and Mr. E. A. Collines, Assistant General Superintendent. During the day the Colonel also visited a number of early-day acquaintances.

WAR CRY EXCHANGE

A number of readers of The War Cry published in London, Eng., desire to exchange copies with readers of the Canadian War Cry. Communications, giving full postal address, should be sent to the Editor, 20 Albert Street, Toronto, who will forward them on.

Mrs. Colonel Peacock spoke briefly. The Colonel's lecture was a vivid presentation which had for its theme the accomplishments of The Army's unrivalled outdoor ministry. Police Magistrate W. M. Cooper, M.P.P., proposed a vote of thanks which was seconded by Mr. Robert Brown, president of the Rotary Club.

Mr. Scott, the manager of the theatre, kindly loaned the building for the inspiring gathering, and other kind friends loaned platform chairs and a piano.

A powerful Salvation meeting at night was crowned with the conver-

HOLINESS IN HAMILTON

A recent united Holiness meeting in Hamilton was conducted by Colonel R. Hargrave. A record crowd for this series of meetings gathered to greet the Colonel, who, with Mrs. Hargrave, was at one time stationed in Hamilton as the Divisional Commander.

The meeting was marked by soulful singing, challenging testimonies of veteran comrades, and a direct Holiness message of the Colonel. Emphasis was placed on The Army's belief and teaching with regard to Sanctification. Hamilton II Songsters sang, and the Hamilton I Citadel Band supplied instrumental music.

Brigadier Ritchie, the Divisional Commander, Mrs. Ritchie and Major Bracey supported the Colonel, and took part in the meeting.

HAPPENINGS AT ESSEX

Essex, Ont. (Adjutant and Mrs. Dockeray). Meetings during Home League week-end brought rich blessing and one person sought Christ in the Salvation meeting.

Brother Pitcher gave a pointed message on Sunday last.

Major and Mrs. Condie, of Windsor, were with us on a recent Thursday evening and gave an interesting illustrated lecture of The Army's work on Devil's Island.

The Young People's Work is progressing.

UNITED GATHERINGS

The second Friday night Holiness meeting at Saint John, N.B., was conducted by Major and Mrs. T. Mundy, of Halifax. The vocal duets of the visiting comrades, as well as the tuneful singing of the North End Songster Brigade was uplifting. Mrs. Major Mundy gave her personal

VICTORIES AT VICTORIA

Seekers and Enrolments in British Columbia's Capital City

Victoria, B.C. (Adjutant and Mrs. C. Watt). As the Victoria Corps entered into another year, hearts were lifted in grateful praise to God for victories of the past and promise of greater things in the months ahead. In every department from the Cradle Roll up there has been marked advance and the passing of February leaves plans already being carried out for soul-saving work under the leadership of Adjutant and Mrs. C. Watt. The organization of the Torchbearers has brought splendid results and the Citadel is given over to them on Monday nights while the Senior Soldiers meet for Bible study at the Officers' Quarters.

Since the re-decorating of the Citadel a more restful lighting system has been installed and a new Penitent-Form proclaims the message "Seek ye the Lord." Of all good gifts we give thanks for, the greatest has been the answer to the prayer, "Lord, give us souls!" for many have knelt at the Mercy-Seat to seek and find Salvation or a higher blessing. This has resulted in names being added to the Soldiers' Roll in addition to transfers from the Young People's Corps. Increased attendance is noticeable at the Citadel meetings and winter visitors mingle with the Victoria comrades in giving inspiring personal testimonies.

Battlefield Brevities

Woodstock, N.B. (Captain and Mrs. Graham). Two Home League members sought Christ during Home League Week and ten members were secured. Major A. Keith led the Decision Sunday meeting in which five children knelt at the Mercy-Seat. In the Salvation meeting two backsliders returned to God. The Band gave its annual musical program at the close of the regular meeting on a recent Sunday evening. The chairman was Rev. T. Ibbot, Rector of Saint Luke's Anglican Church.

Mount Dennis, Ont. (Major and Mrs. Sanford). After two and a half years of faithful service at this Corps Adjutant and Mrs. W. Pedlar have farewelled. In the farewell Ottawa III, Ont. (Major and Mrs. Rawlins). Blessings were experienced when Adjutant Janes and the staff from Grace Hospital led the Sunday's meetings. Mrs. Major Ellis gave the morning message. During the evening meeting Adjutant Janes and Sister Woerkme sang a duet. The newly-organized Songsters were heard for the first time, under the leadership of Bandsman J. Simpson. Bandsman W. Lowell was commissioned Bandmaster. Adjutant Janes brought the Bible message and one person yielded to God.

Four new members have been added to the Home League at North Toronto. A goodly crowd gathered for the farewell meeting of Major Stevenson and Adjutant Payne, and the Major spoke words of appreciation for the service rendered by the League during their stay. Mrs. Major Walton gave a very helpful and interesting talk on the work amongst native women in Southern Rhodesia.

The following week Adjutant and Mrs. Johnson, the new Officers, were welcomed.

Springhill, N.S. (Adjutant and Mrs. A. Pedersen). Special visitation by Home League members resulted in five members being added to the Roll. During Home League Sunday members took part in the meetings under the leadership of Sister Mrs. D. Conn.

The annual Home League sale was opened by Mrs. J. R. Miller, who spoke highly of the work of The Army. Rev. J. R. Miller also took part.

Strathroy, Ont. (Major Webster, Lieutenant Knox). Mrs. Major Brewer, of London, conducted Home League week-end meetings and gave messages of instruction and blessing. On Tuesday night a program was given by Home League members and their families. A home League Rally was also held.

Recent visitors were Major Godden, of London, also Bandsman Faulkner. The week-end was one of blessing, and the Major's Bible talks were helpful.

NEW BRUNSWICK

AND P.E.I. NOTES

A recent Thursday evening meeting at Campbellton (Major and Mrs. Jones) was conducted by Major W. Boshier, of the Public Relations Department.

While paying his monthly visit to Dorchester Penitentiary, Major J. Galway stopped off at Moncton (Major and Mrs. Knaap) to conduct the Sunday night meeting. A large and interested crowd listened to the Major's address. Four men and women knelt at the Mercy-Seat.

Recent week-end meetings conducted by the Divisional Commander at Newcastle (Captain B. Stevens, Candidate V. Gallant and Candidate E. Delong) created interest. Blessing was experienced in the Company meeting and the Salvation meeting which were conducted in the Hall. At the suggestion of the Rev. Dr. L. MacLean, the Corps united with the church congregation for the morning service in which the message was given by the Divisional Commander. Captain B. Stevens read the Scripture and instead of an anthem by the choir, the Captain and her two helpers sang.

Conducted by Mrs. Major Galway recent meetings at Sussex (Captain B. Earle, Lieutenant T. Ritchie) were unusual. Interest was created by the fact that many years ago, Mrs. Galway was stationed at this Corps. Her Bible addresses were helpful, and in the night meeting two young women found Salvation.

While visiting Charlottetown the Divisional Commander conducted the regular morning devotional period over Radio Station CFCY. During the rest of the week the broadcasts were conducted by the Corps Officer, Adjutant E. Lynch. The use, by Major Keith, for the first time of Salvation Army recordings over this station elicited favorable comment.

THE PRICELESS BLESSING

South Edmonton, Alta. (Captain and Mrs. R. Frewing). During Home League Week Major and Mrs. Acton conducted a special cottage meeting at Cloverdale, an outpost of the Corps. The home was crowded to capacity. During the meeting Mrs. Major Acton presented Assistant Young People's Sergeant-Major R. Smith with a Home League President's button, the second to be merited in the Division.

Recently two comrades claimed the Blessing of a Clean Heart.

One person sought Salvation during a meeting led by Captain and Mrs. Ratcliffe.

EVENTS AT WYCHWOOD

Wychwood, Toronto (Captain and Mrs. Simester). Major Alice Bobbitt conducted inspiring meetings on Candidates Sunday. During the day Major Bobbitt and Captain Simester, the Corps Officer, spoke of the sacredness and seriousness of Officership.

The young folk in the Company meeting were delighted when Major Bobbitt visited them and spoke of the value of the Self-Denial Saving League.

A Building Fund Offering Box scheme was recently launched, and boxes were readily taken by comrades and friends.

testimony. The Major gave a forceful address.

The following Friday night the special speaker was the Rev. Arthur Organ, whose address was preceded by a period of testimony. On the last Friday night in the month the leader was Major W. Boshier, of the Public Relations Department, whose introduction of choruses, as well as his earnest address, resulted in a useful and blessed period.

The third in the series of Saint John's "Friday Nights in the Citadel" commenced on the last night of the Week of Prayer, the congregations of downtown churches uniting. The message was delivered by the Rev. Ward MacLean, of St. Andrew's Kirk. Others taking part were the Divisional Commander, Rev. Dr. S. S. Poole, Rev. Dr. Brice D. Knott, and Adjutant Hawkes.

A soup kitchen is in operation at Yarmouth, N.S. (Adjutant and Mrs. Green) supplying an average of thirty-seven families, for several days in the week, some thirty gallons being served daily. Helpful meetings are also being held, souls are resulting in converts taking their stand for God.

Three of the original members of Glace Bay Home League took part in the meetings on Sunday at the Corps. The members took a prominent part in the night meeting and the week-end closed with an interesting object-lesson meeting.

MUSICAL MEMOS

Another sister comrade has joined the ranks of Salvationist-musicians in the Canadian Territory. She is Candidate Stella Beaulieu, of Florence, N.S., who was recently commissioned as a Bandmember by the Corps Officer, Captain Geo. N. Johnson.

A successful program at Hamilton III, Ont., in which the Hamilton I Young People's Band and Singing Company took part, was arranged by Band League Secretary Harold Malbois. Major A. Bracey, Divisional Young People's Secretary, presided.

The Brantford Male Voice Party, whose vocal capabilities are widely known, is to visit Dovercourt Corps, Toronto, for the week-end of February 25th and 26th.

Announcement has been made of the appointment of Bandsman Frank Fisher to the position of Deputy Bandmaster of the Montreal Citadel Band, of which combination Bandmaster J. N. Audouire, L.T.C.L., F.C.C.M., is the leader.

Under the direction of Bandmaster Max Chalk, the Victoria Citadel Band instead of visiting an institution as is customary, recently paid a visit to one of the poor districts of the city. There they played to a number of men who soon congregated, and Band-Sergeant Frank Cracknell gave an inspiring talk.

The Corps Officer at Sudbury, Ont., Major Chapman, is anxious to secure a second-hand set of Second Series Band Journal music, also an Eb Bass instrument in good condition. Communications should be addressed to Major Chapman, 53 Larch Street, Sudbury, Ont.

A series of Saturday evening meetings entitled "Musical Memories" is being conducted by the West Toronto Band (Bandmaster S. Jones) throughout the month of February. Music from early Band Journals will be played, and a number of novel features that will make the programs pleasant and profitable are to be introduced.

When the Mount Pleasant (Vancouver) Band (Bandmaster Bert Mills) recently visited the General Hospital, one of the most interested listeners was a little chap in an iron lung, who begged his nurse to adjust the mirror above his healing prison so that he might properly see as well as hear the Salvation melody makers.

Recently the Saskatoon Citadel Band provided the music at a united service in the Third Avenue United Church.

Congress was visited in 1922. In 1935, the occasion of General Evangeline Booth's visit to Toronto, the Band was a special feature of that memorable Congress; the Bandmaster receiving personal congratulations from the General.

Bandmaster J. N. Audouire is a Licentiate of Trinity College, London, England, and Fellow of the Canadian College of Music and, as well as being a capable leader, is a composer of note, many of his compositions being world-wide favorites. Deputy - Bandmaster Frank Fisher, Band-Sergeant F. J. Knights, and Secretary A. Sutherland who has held this position for twenty-three years, ably assist. Mention should be made of the worthy service of former Deputy-Bandmaster H. C. Tatchell who recently moved to Toronto.

ANNUAL BAND EVENT The Chief Secretary Addresses Assembly of Musicians

WHEN the East Toronto Band (Bandmaster Howse) held its annual Band tea, the special speaker was the Chief Secretary, Colonel W. Peacock, with whom was Mrs. Peacock. More than eighty persons assembled in Hunt's Tea Rooms for the happy occasion.

During the evening the Chief Secretary gave a brief address, and stated that he began his Banding days many years ago in the City of Toronto.

Mr. F. Pritchard, of Temple Baptist Church, a warm friend of the Band, spoke. Other speakers were Bandmaster Howse and the Corps Officer, Major Snowden, who announced the appointment of Bandsman Jacques as Deputy-Bandmaster.

Band-Sergeant Gooch presided and Band Secretary Jacobs read an interesting report of the Band's activities during 1938. Mrs. Colonel Peacock brought the enjoyable evening to a conclusion with prayer.

SALVATION SINGERS

Successful Event at Peterboro Temple

THE annual Songster festival presented by the Peterboro Temple Brigade has become recognized in the Territory as a musical event of high standard. Presiding over this year's festival was Mrs. Brigadier Smith, mother of Songster Leader B. Smith.

The festival opened with a special vocal arrangement of the National Anthem. Then followed the Brigade's theme song "Take my voice and let it sing." The program which included a wide range of vocal selections displayed the versatility of the Brigade. During the evening the presentation of xylophones recently purchased by several of the Brigade's supporters took place.

MUSIC IN THE METROPOLIS Montreal Citadel Band's Proud Record

THE Montreal Citadel Band first appeared in public on May 24th, 1887, twelve strong, with a repertoire of seven tunes, the result of seven weeks tuition under Captain Will Pople, trombonist. Prior to this the Corps' musical force consisted of a bass drum and five snare drums.

Fifty-two years' continuous service, despite early-day opposition and manifold difficulties common to all organizations through intervening years, is the Band's proud record. The majority of the "old guard" have passed on, but one original member, Band Reservist Wm. Gatehouse, is still active in the Corps, together with Sergeant-Major Colley and Treasurer Douglas, both stalwarts of the Band's plishments, and a musically proficient and numerically strong aggregation of approximately fifty men is the result. Accountants, bank clerks, engineers, office assistants, salesmen, metal workers and railroad employees represent some of the vocations followed. It is estimated that their aggregate Army service would amount to one thousand years.

In addition to regular Corps duties, the Band is frequently asked to assist city churches, service clubs and hospitals, including Shawbridge Boys' Farm, St. Agathe Sanatorium, Bordeaux Jail, St. Vincent de Paul Penitentiary and other institutions.

In contrast to the early days, when open-air meetings were forbidden

The Montreal Citadel Male Voice Party, which comprises a group of fine Salvation singers, is under the leadership of Bandmaster J. Norman Audouire earlier days. Band Reservist Geo. Fisher, Sr., also has a long record of service.

Half a century of steady, persistent progress has been achieved through the efforts of the late Bandmaster Will Smith, Alfred Dunk, John Robb, Will Lambert, and W. N. Goodier. During the past nine years, J. Norman Audouire has led the Band on to its greatest accom-and appearance on the street meant abuse, insults and even bloodshed, respect and admiration is now accorded The Army, the Band's playing and deportment being highly commended by all classes and creeds. Attentive and intelligent audiences throng the Band's open-air and indoor meetings, and radio broadcasts bring a flood of letters couched in eloquent terms.

Open-air opportunities in the metropolis are outstanding, and large, interested assemblies can always be attracted, particularly on Saturday nights when many hundreds of people of varying creeds, listen with rapt attention to the message of Salvation in music.

A memorable four-day campaign was conducted in New York some years ago, the Montreal Citadel Band being the first Canadian Corps combination to visit the Skyscraper City.

The Canadian Broadcasting Corporation in June, 1934, selected the Band for a trans-Canada broadcast and afforded it the distinction of being the first Salvation Army combination to be chosen for a Dominion-wide "hook-up." Army Banding traditions were successfully upheld and hundreds of congratulatory messages were received from all parts of Canada.

At Rideau Hall

During a Thanksgiving week-end visit to Ottawa in 1934, the Band was honored with an invitation from the Governor-General to present a program at Rideau Hall. The Earl of Bessborough personally commended Bandmaster Audouire on the brilliance and tonal quality of the music.

Many other successful campaigns have been conducted by the Band, and beside those to local and near by Corps, visits have been made to Sherbrooke, Brockville, Cornwall, Belleville, Earls Court, Malone, Old Orchard and Syracuse. Toronto

THE "GRADUATES" BAND

From Junior to Senior Combination Without a Loss

COMRADES of Montreal Citadel are particularly happy over the fact that the former Young People's Band has taken its place in the Senior aggregation, without loss of a member. The following résumé of the Band's history, written by Bandsman G. Hamilton, who is one of the "Graduates," provides interesting facts:

In October, 1933, the Montreal Citadel Young People's Band was reorganized under the direction of Leader Harry Howland, and in January, 1934, the Band was commissioned. Although at the start only a few of the boys knew anything about music, a learners' class was commenced immediately, and in a short time the Band was playing in the Company meeting. From then on development was continuous. Each year the group took part in the Young People's Councils.

The high-light of the Band's existence was a week-end campaign at Sherbrooke, Quebec. The aggregation upheld its reputation during the visit. The playing of the Festival number "Sunbeam," and the march "Beautiful Canaan," etc., would have done credit to many a Senior Band.

The Young People's Band had the honor of being the first group of this kind to broadcast in Canada. It was also the first musical unit to be conducted by Bandmaster Tom Giles during his recent visit to the Dominion.

By the close of 1938 the majority of the boys had become of age for the Senior Band, and the group was transferred. Bandmaster Audouire, quick to realize that the boys would appreciate it if they could retain in some measure their associations formed in the Young People's Band, suggested that the group form themselves into a musical unit and this was done under the direction of the former Young People's Band Leader, Harry Howland, with the name The Montreal I Citadel Graduates. They are fitting into the activities of the Corps in a very creditable manner. Naturally the leader finds great satisfaction in seeing so many of his boys in Army uniform playing in the Citadel Band.

And now a new Young People's Band is marching along to their own triumphs, under Leader William Dray—a group of young lads intent on building up a reputation of spiritual and musical excellency for themselves!

THE JOYS OF SERVICE

Regina Citadel, Sask. (Major and Mrs. D. Rea). On a recent Sunday afternoon Mrs. Major Rea arranged with Young People's Workers who were converted while they were children to speak of the joy of serving Christ while young. In the prayer meeting that followed eighteen young people decided for Christ.

On Sunday night Major and Mrs. Philips, Major Holgrim and Adjutant Sully made a special appeal to the young people to dedicate their lives for service. Mrs. Major Rea brought a message and six persons knelt at the Mercy-Seat.

At a recent council of Scout and Chum-Cub Leaders in Toronto, presided over by Major R. Gage, District Scout Leader, Brigadier R. A SOUL-WINNER'S REWARD

The Chief Secretary Conducts Funeral Service of Major Hiscock at Toronto Temple

MORE than forty years' service as a devoted Officer in The Salvation Army ended triumphantly for Major Ebenezer Hiscock on Friday, February 10th, when he was called from his home in Toronto to meet the One who through life had been his "Inspiration," and who was now to be his "Great Reward."

From the beginning of his career as an Officer in Newfoundland, in June, 1895, until the moment of his entry into the Realms of Light, the Major's life was an outflow of loving service. Whether in command of Corps in Newfoundland, the Maritimes, or Toronto, or as Divisional Officer in Bermuda, he represented faithfully the cause which he so energetically championed. His work was highly successful, and he proved himself to be a loyal and devoted follower of the Lord, and had the joy of winning hundreds of persons to Christ. Retirement came in 1929 after a long and faithful career.

The impressive Funeral service, for which a large crowd gathered, was held in Toronto Temple on Monday afternoon, February 13th, and was conducted by the Chief Secretary, Colonel G. W. Peacock, with whom was Mrs. Peacock, the Field Secretary, Brigadier F. Ham, and other Officers who took part. Mrs. Commissioner Carpenter was present and closed the service with prayer.

Prayer was offered by Major P. Woolfrey, of the Eventide Home, and Major A. Crowe, of Fairbank, read a portion of Scripture. "Major Hiscock," said the Chief Secretary in his address, "was a man of constant heart and active hands. He was a foundation builder, and because of that his name and memory will be honored for years to come."

An effective solo was provided by Songster L. Woolfrey, of Dovercourt, and Major Dixon, of Earls Court (at which Corps the Major soldiered since his retirement) paid sincere tribute to "A good Soldier." Other speakers were Major W. Hillier, and Mrs. Major Hiscock who for many years shared the promoted warrior's joys and sorrows. She recalled with gratitude a life that had been fully yielded to God.

A Band comprised of comrades from various Corps in the city, and led by Brigadier Beer, provided the music.

Interment took place at Mount Pleasant Cemetery where, after the singing of an old song, Colonel G. Miller offered prayer. The Chief Secretary read the Scripture portion, and conducted the Committal service.

SOUL-SAVING VICTORIES

Recent Conversions at Montreal's First Corps

THAT the original purpose of The Army, the salvation of souls, is being maintained at Montreal Citadel is indicated by a glance through the record of the Penitent-Form book during recent weeks.

Included among the converts who are taking their stand, is a woman who was a Salvationist in Scotland thirty years ago, but during that time had never entered an Army Hall. On her way to a theatre one Sunday night, she was attracted by the poster in front of the Citadel. She entered and was converted. She regularly attends the meetings, and hopes shortly to be enrolled. Behind another name is a story of home discord, a long struggle ending at the Citadel Mercy-Seat, visitation on the part of the Officers, and now very real prospects of re-union and new happiness.

A young woman came forward "to get strength to be a more definite Christian." That week she told her friends of the step she had taken, and to their consternation

"THE COMING ARMY"

at MONTREAL CITADEL

A Vigorous Young People's Corps

THE Young People's work at Montreal Citadel started at the old St. Alexander Street Barracks, and the first Young People's Sergeant-Major was Mrs. W. B. Colley, wife of the present Senior Sergeant-Major. Following her in this office was Sister Annie Colley who labored faithfully and loyally and saw the fruit of her work when the young people in due time took their place in senior activities. Names like Brother Tackaberry, Brother W. Dunk, Brother A. Elliott, Treasurer Mrs. Sykes and the present efficient Young People's Sergeant-Major, Brigadier W. Dray, stand high in the history of the Corps.

The Young People's Corps is fortunate in having a fine body of come up through the learners' class in very recent months. The lads are almost all younger boys and this gives assurance of some stability for the next four or five years.

Several of the players have come into The Army quite recently and give promise of useful and efficient service in the Corps. The Band plays each Sunday in the Company meeting, and also takes a part in the regular Sunday night Salvation meeting, usually playing for the opening song.

During the late summer and fall of 1933 the Band gave worthy assistance at the young people's open-air meetings. The smaller lads especially interest the crowds.

At present the Band-Leader wisely confines the playing to hymns, tunes and other suitable pieces. It is expected that the combination will rise to musical heights, and in a few years, with the training they are now receiving, they will no doubt fill large and important places in the Corps.

Band-Leader W. Dray, Jr., and his assistant, Gordon Hamilton, are putting in excellent work, and have the hearty co-operation of Bandmaster Audoire and other Senior Bandsmen who gladly give the boys individual tuition.

co-operating with their leaders, Leader P. Ritchie, Assistant Leader, R. Ritchie, and Treasurer Mrs. A. Sutherland.

The Singing Company has dedicated its service and talent to God and The Army, and it is the desire of each member to bring blessing and cheer to many hearts.

CADETS CAMPAIGN

AT PORT HOPE

During the week-end of February 11-12th, a party of men-Cadets under the leadership of Major Ernest Green visited Port Hope, Ont. (Captain Woolfrey). A neighboring town was also bombed. All meetings were uplifting in character and a goodly representation of Army friends gathered for an after-church program presented by the Cadets.

Cadet Junker spoke in the Holiness meeting on "Andrew." Cadet C. Fisher spoke at night on "The Presence of Jesus."

Warm Army friends acted as turned down a theatre party and dance engagement. She is now praying for her near relatives, who recently have commenced to attend the meetings.

Several weeks ago a husband and wife came to the Mercy-Seat together. The couple are now testifying and hope to qualify for Soldiership.

These few instances indicate that the spiritual virility of this historic Corps is not declining with the passing years.

HAPPINESS IN

HUMBLE TASKS

Home League Membership
Doubled in Twelve Months

"YOUR task is calling you, and mine is calling me," is the theme chorus of the Montreal Citadel Home League, for they have found true happiness in the humble tasks that come their way.

Each Thursday a cheery group of women, drawn from all types and religions, meet and enjoy a happy hour. The spiritual need is ever to the fore in the services and not only the Home League, but the Corps has benefited by these gatherings for many new Army attenders have been drawn from the League.

During the past few years the League has been showing marked progress and in the past twelve months has more than doubled its membership. Mrs. Titcombe, the Home League Secretary, is assisted in her task by Sister Colley, who held the position of Secretary for twelve years, and Mrs. Volkert who has been Treasurer of the Home League for twelve years.

A number of members, attracted to The Army, have been converted and are taking a definite stand for Christ.

workers who show great interest in the young people. Every effort is made to keep up the interest and special days are featured giving the young folk themselves a large part in special meetings and week-ends.

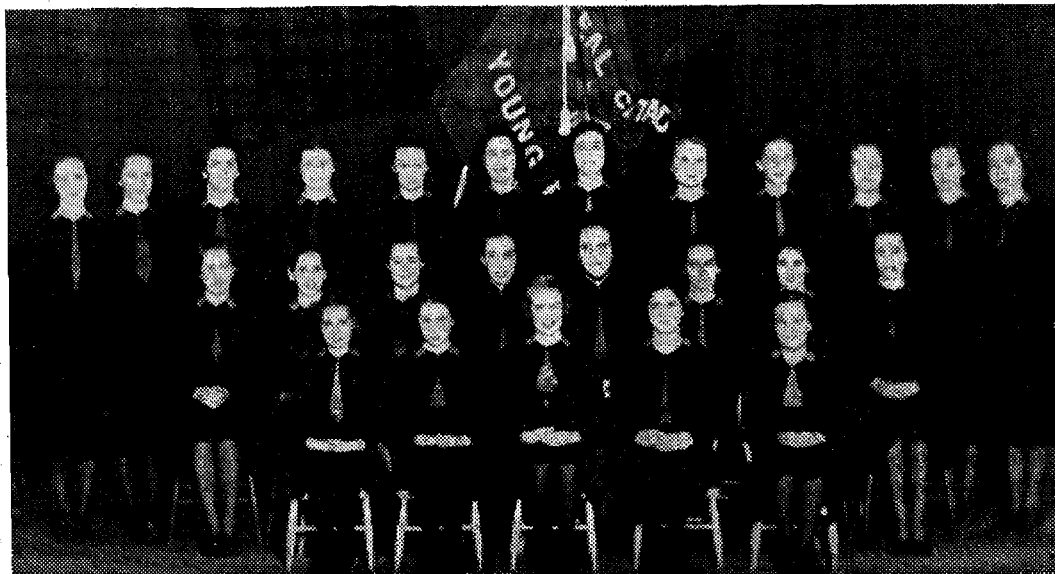

The young people have given commendable service with special efforts and last year the Self-Denial Saving League total reached the splendid sum of $400. It is interesting to note that the five Cadets in the present Training session at Toronto are products of the Young People's Corps. There are also many Officers serving in Canada and other lands.

During the last ten years the Corps has been able to hold many of the older young people through the Young People's Band and Singing Company.

IN recent months the Montreal Citadel Young People's Band has undergone considerable reorganization. With the development of the older boys and the transfer of upwards of twenty young comrades to the Senior Band, Band-Leader William Dray, Jr., has had to look around for new material.

The Band now has eighteen members and all with the exception of six are "new Bandsmen," and have been a Citadel stalwart ever since. For fifty years a Local Officer, Brother Douglas has held the position of Treasurer for the past thirty years. His wife, who has stood by his side through the years, was Captain Clarke, also out of Quebec City. She was converted during the term of Lieut.-Colonel A. Goodwin and pioneered The Army's Work in several centres in Eastern Ontario and Quebec.

Among other comrades who have been Soldiers of the Citadel for many years, are Brother and Sister Robert Baird, who as early-day Officers opened the work in many centres; Recruiting-Sergeant Rogers, who has had long and faithful association with the Corps; and Brother and Sister H. Cummins whose connections with the Corps stretch over nearly half a century. Mention should also be made of the two faithful and untiring Colley sisters who, for more than half a century, have rendered loyal-hearted service to God and The Army.

Many people climbed the volcano to see the flames and then donned skis for the homeward journey.

A DESERTED mine 10,000 feet up in the Andes at Catamarca in Argentina has again yielded a beautiful mineral known as rhodochrosite, which is used as a decoration for hairbrushes, and so on. Entrance to the ancient workings is through a long adit almost filled with water.

THE cold pole in the Western Hemisphere is at Rensselaer Harbour in north-west Greenland, where the temperature has been known to fall to 101 degrees Fahrenheit below freezing point.

ABOUT four times a day British ships pass through the Panama Canal.
Last year they used the canal 1,398 times,
an increase of 94 on the previous year.
Traffic generally has been increasing for many years and it is now proposed to construct another, the third, set of locks.

CENTURIES
MEET

An automobile, imported from the Western World, crosses the long shadows of camels and Arabs as they climb, at mid-day, a gradient outside the walls of Jerusalem. The camels, still widely used as beasts of burden, are laden with blocks of stone to be used for building purposes

STEAM AND LEAVES FOR HEALTH

Finnish Farmers and Their Bath Houses

THE bath house is the most essential of all farm buildings among the Finlanders. These houses are usually built with three rooms. In the centre room is a huge fireplace made of stones, which extends to the rooms on either side, one for women and the other for men.

The stones are heated to a high temperature, water is thrown on them and the house is filled with steam. Finlanders then soap themselves and sit on a shelf beneath the ceiling, and beat themselves with birch twigs. Then there is a 100-yard dash for an icy plunge followed by another steaming.

The birch rods, fastened together in July and August when the leaves are firmest, have healing qualities, the Finns believe. "There is in the leaves medicinal properties that are good for rheumatism," they say.

CANADA'S GREATEST CITY

World Famous Harbour One Thousand Miles from the Open Sea

THE publication in this issue of The War Cry of many interesting facts about The Army's work in Montreal, and in particular at the Citadel Corps, affords an opportunity for restating the fascinating story of the founding and development of what is today Canada's greatest Metropolis.

The vision of this teeming commercial centre could hardly have been accommodated in the thought even

In 1760 it was taken by the English from the French, for the wars which had racked France and England for years had reached Canada — and Montcalm was defeated by Wolfe on the Plains of Abraham at Quebec — in 1759. Early the following year the Marquis de Levis gathered a force and attacked the British. He was defeated, and retreated to Montreal. He made his last stand at the fort on St. Helen's Island and finally capitulated to General Amherst.

The next two or three years were troublous times but following the Peace of Paris in 1763, when Canada was formally ceded to Great Britain, Montreal grew and prospered amazingly. The French inhabitants were left in full enjoyment of their rights and possessions, and in addition British settlers and money poured in.

The first steamboat on the St. Lawrence and the second in America was launched in 1809, and Lachine Canal was started in 1821 to enable navigation to circumvent the rapids. The Canal was opened in 1824.
Ocean and Great Lakes shipping was increasing and the town was growing in every direction and activity. It was incorporated as the City of Montreal in 1832.

Montreal's historical background, natural beauty and recreational opportunities are matched by its culture.

The Chateau de Ramezay is an appropriate repository for the Canadiana that it contains. It was built in 1705 and used as the headquarters of French, British, and American administrations, and of a fur trading company. When the American Revolutionary Army occupied Montreal in 1775, General Montgomery used the Chateau. With Montgomery was Benjamin Franklin, who brought a printing press with him and started a propaganda sheet called the Gazette. The press is still in the Chateau and the Gazette became and still is Montreal's English morning paper.

There are two universities in Montreal — McGill where the lectures are in English and the University of Montreal, where lectures are in French. The University libraries are excellent, the Redpath at McGill being reputed to be the finest in Canada.

The City Hall, Montreal, is an historic edifice of Jacques Cartier, the intrepid French explorer who discovered the Indian village of Hochelaga in 1535. It was not until 1611 that a trading post was formed at this point by Champlain, who named it Place Royale. In 1642 it was established as a city and named Ville Marie.

Commemorating a Memorable

Their Majesties, King George and Queen Elizabeth, to Canada, new

WAYSIDE SHRINES

A MAN I know has made an altar
Of his factory-bench.
And one has turned the counter in his store
Into a place of sacrifice and holy ministry.
Another still has changed his office-desk
Into a pulpit-desk, from which to speak and write,
Transforming commonplace affairs
Into the business of the King.
A Martha in our midst has made Her kitchen-table a communion-table.
A postman makes his daily round
A walk in the temple of God. . .

To all of these each daily happening
Has come to be a whisper from the lips of God,
Each separate task a listening-post,
And every common circumstance
A wayside shrine.

pictured on the green one-cent
stamp, the brown two-cent stamp will have on it the National Memorial it is hoped the King will unveil in May, while special red three-cent stamps made bigger than usual will have a picture of the King and Queen.

A bright new silver dollar is to be struck by the Mint to commemorate this memorable occasion which will have on one side a likeness of King George and on the other a design symbolising the royal visit.

Air liners are to fly between London and Glasgow, Scotland, in three
